

Epic College of Technology designed this program to teach and train students to support services to people living at home, long-term care centers, nursing and retirement homes, hospitals, rehab centers or any other health care facilities. This program also educates students to communicate with clients, families and members of the health care team. Students will also study methods to safely care for the different clients who may experience emotional, physical or behavior challenges. Upon completing the practicum, students will gain experience in the field of health care that will help them to build their future careers.

The NACC Personal Support Worker program offers the students quality education and training by highly experienced professionals. The NACC PSW Program will teach students the content and the skill competencies that are required to become an efficient Personal Support Worker.
